

Social and Club

BY GRACIA POPE WOOD.

Miss Dorothy Crane welcomed about sixty guests this morning to the tea she gave in honor of Mrs. Kenneth Alexander and Mrs. Arch Walters, two of the summer's brides. The girls in their delicate organdies and laces and wearing light hats were as decorative as the flowers that were used in the low bowls were in the front rooms and the centerpiece on the dining room table was a basket filled with pink roses, blue delphinium and baby's breath.

The West Side Forestry club will meet next Thursday with Mrs. J. M. Meade, Crane and Western avenues. Mrs. T. C. Biddle will read a paper concerning "Benefits of Conservatories in State Institutions."

Miss Helen Phillips will present a number of her pupils in a practice violin recital Tuesday morning, July 29, at 10 o'clock at the Orpheum theater. The recital is open to the public. The following young people will play: Miss Katherine Jordan, Mr. Cecil Porter, Miss Marie Schlegel, Mr. Jack Fleming, Mr. Scott Schwartz, Mr. Garland Hartwell, Mr. Walter Dawson, Miss Doris Richert, Miss Katherine Archinger, Miss Ruth Early, Miss Alice Volland, Miss Althea Rosen, Miss Nellie Smith, Miss Elizabeth Anderson.

The Kappa Alpha Theta sorority meeting that was to have been held last night at the home of Miss Beatrice Shakeshaft has been postponed until Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

Miss Ethel Jones entertained Friday in honor of Miss Gertrude Conroy of Manhattan, who is the guest of Miss Adelaide Seede. Those present were: Miss Conroy, Miss Lillian Martin, Miss Adelaide Seede, Miss Thelma Houston, Miss Jessie McCarrie, Miss Gladys Scott, Miss Helen Forsy, Mrs. Kenneth Alexander, and Mrs. W. P. Williams.

A party of girls who will go to Colorado August 2 is made up of Miss Carrie Herring, Miss Pearl Helbert, Miss Dickerson, Miss Stella Herring, and Miss Elizabeth Leaser of Allen town, Pa. They will have a cottage in Manitou for several weeks.

HOW SHALL YE BE CLOTHED? It's time to fold away your sheer organdies and cool gingham. The days of light airy frocks are over and one must begin to shop for serges and heavy satins. As one saleswoman expressed it: "The 'big' people are doing it you know because they're traveling around and are in the east where everyone does wear wool gowns." And no one in Topeka wants to be outshone.

The local stores already have in goodly supply of fall merchandise and more is coming every day. For the most part the dresses are built on the long straight lines of the past season. The skirts are narrow but not so narrow and they are a little shorter. About seven inches from the floor will be the average this fall. A good many of the frocks have a little of gabardine so heavy you can feel a definite thickness about it. A striking feature is that they are trimmed with elaborate braiding and embroidery in wide strips. There is one heavy black satin frock embroidered with gold and silver until it almost stands alone. It reminds one of the dresses of more than a decade ago. The distinguishing thing about the new suite is the fact that the coats are longer than they have been. Most of them are knee length. Some hang straight and there is one here with a bloused jacket trimmed with a great deal of braiding. The sleeves are a little less snug than last winter.

A local modiste says there will be crinoline in the skirts this fall; used about the hips to give that stand out effect. And she says the leading color is to be brown with purple as a second, and our old stand by, blue, following along third. A tailored dress of white chamois is the smartest thing she has made this summer. This type of dress is very popular in the east.

Lingerie—and it deserves a whole story—is to go back to the old-fashioned idea of trimming itself with lace and ruffles instead of being as prim and tailored as the out-top clothes. But that does not mean petticoats are returning. This is a place milady can save, and one of the latest tailoresses will continue to take them off of her customers.

Hats are to be worn low and straight on the head as they have been this summer.

And just one more thing—velvet, which makes the most fascinating of winter frocks, will be a yard, and shoes, they say—but why worry about that now when the crying need is for a new gown of heavy fabric? The rows of elaborate embroidery around hip and ankle.

Almost a hundred people spent the week-end at Lake View last week and it is expected that as many will go down today. A feature of last week which proved very popular and will be repeated is an 11 o'clock supper. After every one has fished and boated

TO HER BOY'S SIDE

Impoverished Texas Mother Hurries to Hoboken Hospital.

Mortgaged Two Horses and Cow To Make Trip.

BRINGS HOME-MADE BREAD

Mrs. Hammond Takes Novel Means of Combating H. C. L.

Has Eleven Children—Sons Enlisted at Outbreak of War.

New York, July 26.—Mrs. William Hammond, of Gorman, Tex., mother of eleven children, summoned by telegraph to the bedside of her critically ill son, Ruel H. Hammond, 27 years old, arrived at St. Mary's hospital in Hoboken today. She mortgaged two horses and a cow to raise the money to get here and said she was paying 10 per cent interest on the loan, "which Ruel will help pay off when he gets well."

Waried of the high cost of living in New York, Mrs. Hammond brought with her a large bag of home-made Texas bread, which she hoped would last until her return to Gorman. Nurses and friends at the hospital raised a fund to supply the impoverished but happy mother with shoes, a hat and a new dress, and when she was ushered into the sick ward to see her boy, he smiled weakly, and after embracing and kissing the white haired woman, remarked:

"Can't change her 'Texas Walk.'"

"Well, Mom, they can put you in fine city clothes, but they can't take the Texas walk out of your feet."

Mrs. Hammond said she had written to Secretary Daniels asking that he be honorably discharged "now that the armistice has been signed so that he can help us run the farm."

DOING BIG WORK

Humane Society of Shawnee County Files Report.

735 Cases Were Handled in the Last Year.

The remarkable work being done in Topeka and Shawnee county by the Kings, agents for the Foster Humane Society, is shown in the twenty-second annual report issued by Kilmaurs W. Kings. This report shows that more than 735 specific cases were handled by them during the last year. Not only have the sick and needy been assisted but hundreds of cases of cruelty to animals and children have been investigated. And when the Kings make an investigation they get results.

A total of 225 cases of cruelty and neglect of children were investigated and twenty-three cases brought before the juvenile court. There were hundreds of cases in which horses and mules being worked in an unfit condition were suspended and improved; were rough shod to protect them in slippery weather, and relieved from the inhumane treatment of brutal owners.

The Kings have done much to check the wave of immorality that swept over the city during the war days. Four cases of this nature were brought into the court of Topeka and the defendants all bound over to the district court.

Senator Phelan Charges Jap Iner Brought 160 'Proxies' to U. S.

Washington, July 26.—Senator Phelan, California, today announced he had submitted to the state department information he had received showing that the Korea Maru, a Japanese liner, had recently brought 150 "picture" or proxy brides to California for husbands who have never seen them. Other information submitted to the department, the California senator said, showed the arrival of a number of the "brides" at Seattle. Such immigration, Senator Phelan said, amounts to defeat in effect of the "gentlemen's agreement."

COLLIERS CHANGES HANDS

Crowell Publishing Company Becomes Owners of National Weekly.

New York, July 26.—Colliers Weekly has changed hands today, under a contract by which the Crowell Publishing company became owner of the weekly, as well as all other publications issued by F. F. Collier and Sons.

No changes in the personnel of Colliers are contemplated, at present, it was announced. Finley Peter Dunne is editor.

Can Youth and Middle Age Be Happy?

The older man is attracted by the young girl's freshness and innocence. And the girl is fascinated by the older man's experience, his broader outlook on life, his delightful manners, in brief, his sophistication.

Can they be happy together?

Will not the young girl's very sweetness cloy after a time? And will not the coldness and undemonstrativeness of the older man kill his young wife's love? Or worse yet, drive her to some younger and more agreeable man for comradeship?

Is any love strong enough to reconcile two people so different in character? Sandra Courtney thought so, but even she had hours of black doubt.

Read the solution of her problem in "Sandra the Jealous," which starts Monday in The State Journal.
